Academic Program

French classes from beginning through advanced and interdisciplinary lectures in English are offered at the Baobab Center in Dakar. Students will earn either six or nine (6-9) credit hours:

- - 3 credit hours

For interdisciplinary lectures delivered in English on topics such as arts, history, religion, politics, literature, cinema, and society in Senegal.

[Option for students that are not French majors/minors].

- - 3 credit hours of study abroad elective for cultural and linguistic immersion during six weeks.

[Option is for all students on the program].

- - 6 credit hours

For two French courses: (1105/1106); (2105/2106); (3105/3106); (3125/3126); (3314); (3304); or study abroad elective (3954).

Cost

The projected cost is $3,990 for room and board, course material, cultural excursions, and hotel accommodations. Does not include airfare and VT tuition.

Excursions

Students take part in a variety of cultural and leisure excursions in Dakar and other places in Senegal.

Lodging

Students will be living with families that have extensive experience hosting international students. These host families are located in the Sicap Baobab neighborhood within a reasonable walking distance from the Baobab Center.

Eligibility and Admission

Any student in good standing at an accredited US university may apply. Online application forms are available from VT Global Education www.educationabroad.vt.edu.

A deposit of $1,000 is due February 14 at the latest. Non-Virginia Tech students are charged an application fee in order to enroll as a non-degree student. Eligible VT students can apply their financial aid to tuition and/or to the program costs.
